Introduction

A commitment to economic relations

Europe-Iran Business Forum envisioned as a major international business conference focused on economic opportunities in Iran. The Business Forum is being organised within the EU Iran Trade Development Project, a European Union funded project under the implementation of the International Trade Centre, the joint agency of the United Nation and the World Trade Organization The online conference represents the durable bilateral commitment to support and develop trade and economic relations among European and Iranian stakeholders.

Europe-Iran economic relations have faced a challenging two years. Political pressures, economic challenges, and a global pandemic have all served to make routine business more difficult. Yet, the political commitment to diplomacy remains strong, and commercial relations between Europe and Iran remain significant. It is therefore evident for policymakers and business leaders on both sides that the disruptions to trade and investment are temporary and that the opportunities for expanded commerce remain significant.

The Europe-Iran Business Forum will enable stakeholders in Europe and Iran to examine the challenges and opportunities facing Europe- Iran economic relations with the help of expert analysis. The online sessions and training modules will provide an opportunity for the exchange of ideas and expertise that can help business leaders and policymakers improve their day-to-day operations and rethink their strategies. The resulting dialogue will help strengthen existing business relationships and foster new connections between European and Iranian executives.

The Business Forum represents a timely opportunity to take stock of how companies in Europe and Iran have adjusted to the recent challenges, what they have learned from the experience, and how they expect to apply those learnings in the future. The Business Forum also provides a platform for policymakers to detail their efforts to support bilateral trade and investment in creative ways, such as through outreach to small and medium enterprises, due diligence processes or through the entrepreneurship. of Unfortunately, many of these initiatives are not widely known.

Among its objectives the Europe-Iran Business Forum intends to provide enterprises with concrete opportunities to identify and engage potential business counterparts. The initiative provides an opportunity to respond to recent disruptions in trade, such as the COVID-19 crisis, and an opportunity to examine the long-term trajectory for the Iranian economy, such as through the articulation of a new National Export Strategy.

The future of economic relations between Europe and Iran depends on the credibility of commitment from both sides. This innovative conference will seek to use open and frank dialogue to help build mutual trust and understanding between stakeholders in Europe and Iran who work between the worlds of business and policy. This understanding will help make economic relations between Europe and Iran more resilient to future shocks while also ensuring bilateral trade and investment reaches new highs when circumstances improve.

The event is organised within the EU Iran Trade Development Project, a European Union funded project under the implementation of the International Trade Centre, a joint agency of the United nation and the World Trade organization.

The project leverages on the deep knowledge ITPO has of Iranian economy and its valuable services on trade information and promotion, market intelligence and development.

To foster inclusive and sustainable development through trade in developing countries and transition economies, ITC prioritizes support to least developed countries, landlocked developing countries, small island developing states, sub-Saharan Africa and post-conflict countries. Established in 1964, ITC is the joint agency of the United Nations and the World Trade Organization.
